On the morning of 25 April 1915, Australian and New Zealand troops landed under fire at Gallipoli. It was then and in the battles which followed that the ANZAC tradition was formed.

On this day, above all days, we remember all those who served our nation in times of war.

We remember with pride their courage, their compassion and their comradeship.

We remember what they accomplished for Australia, and indeed for the freedom of mankind.

We honour those who died or were disabled in the tragedy of war. They adorn our nation's history.

We remember those who fell amidst the valleys and ridges of Gallipoli, on the terraced hills of Palestine, in France and Belgium, on the sands of the North African desert, amidst the mountains and olive groves of Greece, Crete and Syria, in the skies over Europe, in Singapore, in the jungles of Malaysia, Indonesia, Papua New Guinea and the Pacific Islands, in Korea and Vietnam, in the skies and seas in many parts of the world, and on our own soil and in our sea lanes.

We remember those who suffered as prisoners of war, and those who died in captivity.

We remember staunch friends and allies, especially those who fought alongside us on that first ANZAC Day in 1915.

Our servicemen and women have left us a splendid heritage. May we and our successors prove worthy of their sacrifice.

11. Hymn, "Abide With Me".

*Abide with me; fast falls the even-tide.
The darkness deepens; Lord, with me abide.
When other helpers fail, and comforts flee,
Help of the helpless, O abide with me.*

*Swift to its close ebbs out life's little day;
Earth's joys grow dim, its glories pass away.
Change and decay in all around I see;
O, Thou who changest not, abide with me.*

*Hold thou thy cross before my closing eyes;
Shine through the gloom, and point me to the skies.
Heaven's morning breaks, and earth's vain shadows flee;
In life, in death, O Lord, abide with me.*

12. The National President of the Returned and Services League, or his representative, will recite the following lines from Laurence Binyon's "For the Fallen".

*They shall grow not old, as we that are left grow old:
Age shall not weary them, nor the years condemn.
At the going down of the sun and in the morning
We will remember them.
All repeat:
We will remember them.*

13. "The Last Post".

14. Two minutes' silence.

15. "The Rouse". The flags are raised to the mastheads.

16. The National Anthem. On its completion all please be seated.

*Australians all let us rejoice,
For we are young and free;
We've golden soil and wealth for toil,
Our home is girt by sea;
Our land abounds in nature's gifts
Of beauty rich and rare;
In history's page, let every stage
Advance Australia Fair.
In joyful strains then let us sing,
Advance Australia Fair.*

17. The Catafalque Party is withdrawn.

18. Fly-past by an aircraft of the Royal Australian Air Force.

19. His Excellency the Administrator of the Commonwealth and Lady Green, the Prime Minister of Australia, the New Zealand High Commissioner, and the Leader of the Opposition stand and are escorted to the Hall of Memory to lay a single flower on the Tomb of the Unknown Australian Soldier.

ROLL OF DRUMS

O VALIANT HEARTS

O Valiant hearts, who to your glory came
Through dust of conflict and through battle flame;
Tranquil you lie, your knightly virtue proved,
Your memory hallowed in the land you loved.

Proudly you gathered, rank on rank, to war
As who had heard God's message from afar;

To save mankind—yourself you scorned to save.

Splendid you passed, the great surrender made,
Into the light that nevermore shall fade;
Deep your contentment in that blest abode,
Who wait the last clear trumpet call for God.

WREATHS: Mrs G. Kirk, ACT Branch RSL and Brigadier L.J. Gardiner, New Zealand High Commission, Canberra will place wreaths on the Stone of Remembrance, symbolising the Unity of ANZAC.

THE ANZAC DEDICATION will be pronounced by Mr Derek Roylance, President, ACT Branch, Returned & Services League of Australia.

At this hour, on this day, eighty-seven years ago, the Australian and New Zealand Army Corps, at Gallipoli, made immortal the name of ANZAC and established an imperishable tradition of selfless service, of devotion to duty and of fighting for all that is best in human relationships.

We who are gathered here today in this dawn vigil remember with gratitude the men and women who have given and are still giving, in our Armed and Supporting Services, all that is theirs to give in order that the world may be a nobler place in which to live.

And with them, we remember those left behind to bear the sorrow of their loss.

Let us therefore dedicate ourselves to taking up the burdens of the fallen, and with the same high courage and steadfastness with which they went into battle, set our hands to the tasks they left unfinished. Let us dedicate ourselves to the service of the ideals for which they died. Let us, with God's help, give our utmost to make the world what they would have wished it to be, a better and happier place for all of its people, through whatever means are open to us.

PRAYERS

THE LORD'S PRAYER

NON NOBIS, DOMINE.

Not unto us, O Lord (Psalm 115)

By Charles E. W. Bean, Commonwealth War Historian, 1915
Written in December, 1915, when leaving the graves on Gallipoli

Not unto us, O Lord, to tell
Thy purpose in the blast;
Why these, that tower beyond us, fell
And we were overpast.

We cannot guess how goodness springs
From the black tempest's breath.
Nor scan the birth of gentle things
In these red bursts of death.

We only know—from good and great
Nothing save good can flow;
That where the cedar crashed so straight
No crooked tree shall grow.

That from their ruin a taller pride—
Not for these eyes to see—
May clothe one day the valleyside—
Non nobis, domine.

Principal Chaplain - Army

O GOD OUR HELP IN AGES PAST

O God, our help in ages past,
Our hope for years to come,
Our shelter from the stormy
blast
And our eternal home.

Time, like an ever-rolling stream
Bears all its sons away;
They fly forgotten as a dream
Dies at the opening day.

A thousand ages in Thy sight
Are like an evening gone;
Short as the watch that ends
the night
Before the rising sun.

O God, our help in ages past,
Our hope for years to come,
Be Thou our guard while troubles
last,
And our eternal home.
